

Why We Like the Neighborhood

Glenview has so much to offer but most of all its the feeling of community and friendship. Living in Glenview has brought us a wealth of lifetime friendships that we will cherish for years to come. The weekend scene is children playing, couples walking their dogs and individuals gardening. All sharing the common goal of living a full and wonderful life in Glenview.

Glenview has a wonderful brand new elementary school which is walkable for the children and parents of Glenview. You will notice Everett Avenue is dotted with young families all drawn here because of the weather, local schools and community. It's wonderful to see all the young families here on Everett.

The area is surrounded by parks whether its Diamond Park located a few blocks away or the Grand Joaquin Miller Park where you can lose time on the many winding trails. You will come to know the area and many more off the beaten path of trails available year round.

Whether you shop at our local stores located a short distance on Park Blvd or Leimert Blvd. or find yourself up in the near city of Montclair or Piedmont, You will find a wealth of grocery stores, specialty restaurants and shops to choose from. Everything is accessible in a matter of minutes!

The home offers many areas to escape to, whether it's on the back deck overlooking the Oakland hills or watching the cooper hawk up in the tree. Or maybe you are more inclined to relax in the living room with a roaring fire and a warm beverage. If you like to entertain or you are hosting Thanksgiving this year, you will be surprised how many of your closest friends and family members this home will accommodate comfortably.

There is just so much to see and do in Oakland. It's waiting to be discovered and is cherished by all who live in this wonderful area we call home.
